Dear Parents and Carers

This is just a very brief note to let you know that we have produced schedules for expected homework and that these are going to be placed onto the school website. These are purposefully simply in their nature and design, but should allow you to see expectations, patterns and a broad sense of timings across multiple years. These will change periodically as plans for teaching and learning are reviewed. Equally, these are activities beyond the classroom, the learning journeys identify the broad pattern of topics within a subject and give an indication of each individual topic is assessment within a subject. Both the learning journey and the homework plan can be found here: <https://www.pensbyhighschool.org/about-us/curriculum/subjects-learning-journeys/>.

I hope this allows for you to see the path of learning, including homework and this way, we as parents can start conversations around our children's learning from the shared structures.

Yours sincerely

Mr K Flanagan
